- C. 26-415 Presentation regarding road closure of Houston Street from S. 1st Street to S. 6th Street in association with the Old Town Waterline Improvements (Project No. 2254401)
- Charlie Bright, Director of Engineering and Construction, presented Item 26-415, and explained that the city is planning a temporary closure of Houston Street between Main and Linn Lane for about a month to complete Old Town water line improvements and related drainage work. Because the work is close to the roadway and involves equipment extending into traffic areas, the closure is necessary for safety. While the road is an arterial, it also functions as a residential street, so traffic impacts are expected to be manageable, with detours routed via Dallas Street. Residents will still have access to their homes, and crews will coordinate directly with them to minimize disruption.
- D. 26-403 Presentation, consideration, and acceptance of the City of Broken Arrow Annual Financial Statements for Fiscal Year 2024-2025
- Cindy Arnold, Director of Finance, presented Item 26-403 and introduced Jake Winkler.
- Jake Winkler with Arledge & Associates P.C. reported a clean audit with no findings, no significant deficiencies, and no material weaknesses. He noted that federal grant funds were also audited with no issues, and both the Uniform Guidance and Yellow Book reports were clean, emphasizing that the uneventful results reflect a strong financial position.
- Following the audit presentation, officials expressed appreciation for the clean audit results and credited the city’s finance team for their organization and transparency. Mr. Winkler praised their responsiveness and record-keeping, noting that it contributed to the smooth audit process. At the same time, council members emphasized confidence in staff and the importance of maintaining strong financial practices.

- E. 26-87 Update on the 2026 General Obligation Bond Package
- City Manager Michael Spurgeon highlighted that the city is nearing the April 7 bond election after a nearly three-year planning and public engagement process, emphasizing extensive transparency through surveys, meetings, and community partnerships. He noted the package includes nearly 130 projects aimed at maintaining Broken Arrow’s quality of life and reflects strong community input. Spurgeon also recognized the COBA U leadership class and thanked council members, staff, and partners for their efforts, expressing pride in the process and strong public support as the city enters the final phase before the vote.
- 8. Citizens' Opportunity to Address the Council on General Topics Related to City Business or Services (No action may be taken on matters under this item)
- Jill Hatfield, a citizen of Broken Arrow, expressed concern about the impact of nearby development—particularly the new Amazon facility—on her neighborhood, citing increased noise, traffic, and road wear affecting residents’ quality of life. She questioned why homeowners were not more directly informed in advance and raised specific concerns about planned road widening on College Street, including how it may affect property frontage. She also asked about the timeline for a previously approved 180-unit apartment project, noting that additional construction could further intensify disruptions, and requested guidance on whom to contact for more information.
- City officials acknowledged Ms. Hatfield’s concerns and confirmed they would follow up directly with her after coordinating internally to provide detailed answers to her questions. They also agreed to update the council on the response. Additionally, members noted the importance of addressing her concern about the lack of prior notification, clarifying that the project did not come before the City Council for approval, and committed to explaining that publicly for broader awareness.
- Rocky Henkel, Director of Community Development, clarified that the property in question was rezoned to light industrial in 2020. At that time, public notices were issued, and residents had the opportunity to speak during public hearings. Since no opposition was recorded, the zoning was approved, allowing the current development to proceed “by right,” meaning it complies with existing zoning and does not require further City Council approval. He explained that while the project must still meet all engineering, building, and regulatory requirements, additional public notification is not required at this stage because the use was already permitted under the approved zoning.

9. General Council Business

- A. 26-355 Consideration, discussion, and possible action for approval of and authorization to award to the lowest responsible bidder, Builder's Unlimited, Inc., authorization to execute a construction contract for the Kenosha Sidewalk Project (ST23290), and a prove and authorize a project transfer from ST26080 to ST23290

Travis Small, Transportation Division Manager, presented Item 26-355, the proposed award for the Kenosha Sidewalks Project, which aims to fill a sidewalk gap between Sycamore and Narcissus. He explained that the project was designed in coordination with a consultant and Union Pacific Railroad. After bidding, Builders Unlimited was identified as the lowest responsible bidder at approximately $324,000—below the engineer’s estimate of about $382,000. Funding is available through the 2018 bond funds and street sales tax, and staff recommended moving forward with the award.

MOTION: A motion was made by Lisa Ford, seconded by David Pickel

- B. 26-424 Consideration, discussion, and possible approval of and authorization to execute and publish a Notice of Availability of Annual Audit for Fiscal Year 2024-2025

Cindy Arnold, Director of Finance, presented Item 26-424 and explained that state law requires the city to publish a Notice of Availability for the annual audit in the newspaper, informing the public that the audit is accessible. She stated that this is a routine requirement, and staff recommend approval of the notice.

MOTION: A motion was made by Justin Green, seconded by Lisa Ford

The motion carried by the following vote:

- C. 26-436 Consideration, discussion, and possible approval PUD-002644-2026 (Planned Unit Development), Elysian Fields III, a major amendment to PUD-306, 53.55 acres, AG (Agricultural) to RS-P (Single Family Residential - Preservation) & PUD-306 via BAZ-2050, located at the southeast corner of Tucson Street (121st Street) and Garnett Road (113th E. Avenue)

Rocky Henkel, Director of Community Development, presented Item 26-436, a major amendment request for PUD 306 on approximately 53 acres at Tucson and Garnett, originally proposing a slight increase in housing units, potential future commercial development, and updated sidewalk requirements. He noted that the Planning Commission partially approved the request, allowing the increase in homes but rejecting the commercial component due to public opposition. The applicant has since revised the proposal to remove the commercial portion and clarify sidewalk requirements, and the updated PUD reflects those changes.

The discussion clarified that the amendment increases the allowed homes from 182 to 186, which was the primary concern raised by residents. The previously proposed commercial component has been removed from the PUD. However, officials noted that the property owner could still pursue commercial development in the future through a separate comprehensive plan amendment and rezoning process. Council members confirmed that any such future change would require additional public review and approval.

MOTION: A motion was made by Lisa Ford, seconded by David Pickel

- D. 26-442 Consideration, discussion, and possible approval of the appointment or reappointment of a member to the City of Broken Arrow Board of Adjustment for a term to expire May 1, 2028

Rocky Henkel, Director of Community Development, explained that Michelle Bergwall’s position on the Board of Adjustments was deemed vacant due to attendance requirements under city code. After review by legal and city management, staff recommended reappointing her to continue serving in the same role for the remainder of the term, which would expire on May 1, 2028.

The council discussed concerns about reappointing Michelle Bergwall due to missed meetings, questioning her attendance and commitment. Staff clarified that absences triggered the vacancy under the city code, but also noted she remains interested in serving and has contributed value in the past. The council supported reappointment, emphasizing her experience and importance to the board, while also stressing that improved attendance is expected going forward and will be monitored closely.

MOTION: A motion was made by Johnnie Parks, seconded by David Pickel

E. 26-433

Consideration, discussion, and possible modification to Request to Appear Forms and Guidelines for City Council meetings and all other City Boards and Commissions meetings adopted by City Council on February 6, 2018, as modified on April 20, 2021, including but not limited to consolidation of the Guidelines providing for a single set to apply to both City Council meetings as well as to meetings of Boards and Commissions; providing for cancelation or suspension of public comment periods; and setting forth criteria to be considered when canceling or suspending public comment periods

Trevor Dennis, City Attorney, presented Item 26-433 and explained that the city is proposing updates to its “request to appear before Council” forms and guidelines, last revised in 2021, to align with the adopted parliamentary procedures. The changes clarify the Mayor’s authority to manage meetings, including the ability to interrupt or end public comments to maintain order and efficiency. The updates also consolidate guidelines across the City Council, Planning Commission, and other boards, and incorporate feedback to improve clarity.

The discussion clarified that the proposed updates do not change the city’s procedures but simply put existing practices into clearer written form. Officials emphasized that public comment is not legally required under current Oklahoma law and remains at the discretion of the governing body. However, it is typically allowed to promote transparency and citizen engagement. They also noted that managing repetitive or disruptive comments is part of maintaining efficient meetings.

MOTION: A motion was made by Lisa Ford, seconded by David Pickel

10. Preview Ordinances

A. 26-423

Consideration, discussion and possible preview of Ordinance No. 3905 Amending Chapter 7, an ordinance amending Chapter 7, Article XVII of the Code of Ordinances relating to short-term rentals; providing new and revised definitions; establishing and strengthening operating standards; requiring interior posting, noise monitoring, and security cameras; establishing occupancy and parking limits; requiring advertising disclosures and hosting-platform cooperation; capping licenses per owner in residential districts; providing enforcement, notice, appeals, and penalties; adopting an appendix checklist; providing for codification; repealer; severability; and declaring an effective date

Trevor Dennis, City Attorney, presented Item 26-423, summarizing proposed updates to the city’s short-term rental ordinance, developed in response to numerous complaints involving noise, safety issues, and difficulty identifying responsible parties. He explained that the revisions aim to balance regulation with feedback from property owners by removing requirements like mandatory insurance, public display of license numbers, and training discounts, while clarifying tax handling and extending compliance timelines to 180 days. The proposal also strengthens enforcement options, including criminal penalties and civil actions to address unlicensed or noncompliant operators—especially out-of-state owners. He emphasized that the proposal is still a draft, seeking council feedback before moving toward final adoption.

Amanda Sole, a licensed short-term rental operator, expressed support for reasonable regulations aimed at protecting neighborhoods but urged the city to distinguish between responsible, compliant operators and illegal or problematic ones. She highlighted her property’s strong track record, proactive monitoring, and local management, emphasizing that issues stem from lack of accountability—not remote ownership. She raised concerns about increasing costs on compliant businesses. At the same time, illegal operators remain active and advocate for targeted enforcement with stronger penalties for repeat or unlicensed offenders, rather than broad measures that could harm responsible operators.

The discussion reinforced that the city’s goal is to target unlicensed and noncompliant short-term rental operators—not those already following the rules. Officials agreed with the speaker that enforcement should focus on “bad actors,” and staff explained that new tools are being proposed to address them more effectively. These include a graduated penalty system for violations, beginning with warnings or short suspensions and escalating if issues continue.

For operators who refuse to comply, the city outlined a stronger enforcement path: issuing cease-and-desist notices and, if ignored, pursuing legal action in district court to obtain injunctions that could shut down operations. Officials emphasized that this approach is designed to ensure accountability—even for out-of-state owners—while protecting responsible, licensed businesses.

They also clarified that properties operating illegally in restricted locations (such as too close to another rental) would not be eligible for a license and could be forced to cease operations entirely. Overall, the conversation highlighted a shift toward stricter, more enforceable measures aimed at bringing noncompliant operators into the system or shutting them down if necessary.

Jeremiah Calsing, a local short-term rental manager, expressed support for the city’s efforts to regulate the industry but suggested refinements to make the ordinance more balanced. He raised concerns about the current suspension system, noting it could unintentionally penalize responsible operators who report issues, and proposed adopting a “safe harbor” policy to encourage cooperation with law enforcement. He also recommended incentive-based measures, such as reduced renewal fees for operators with clean records, to promote compliance. Additionally, he cautioned against adding a hotel/motel tax, citing reduced revenues for operators and potential negative impacts on local lodging supply and tourism.

The discussion focused on refining the proposed short-term rental rules, particularly around Jeremiah Calsing’s suggestions. Council members were receptive to exploring a “safe harbor” provision so responsible operators who report issues themselves would not be penalized, with staff confirming this could be incorporated into the ordinance. However, they emphasized the need for safeguards to prevent abuse, such as limiting repeated use of the provision or requiring cooperation and preventative measures.

They also considered the idea of incentive-based fee reductions for operators with clean records, directing staff to research how other cities handle such programs and potentially bring back recommendations. At the same time, members reiterated that enforcement should remain focused on noncompliant operators.

Regarding the hotel/motel tax, council members indicated continued support for it as a tool to fund tourism, despite concerns raised by operators. Overall, the council showed openness to adjustments that reward responsible behavior while maintaining strong enforcement against problem properties.

Jessica Paige, a new resident, expressed appreciation for city leadership and shared her interest in potentially using her home as a short-term rental in the future. She asked how to obtain a copy of the proposed ordinance and sought clarification on whether a hotel/motel tax currently applies—or will apply—to short-term rentals.

The discussion clarified that a short-term rental ordinance already exists, and a copy can be obtained through the city clerk after the meeting. Officials noted that some platforms already collect hotel/motel taxes, but the broader application of that tax is still under consideration by the council. They also confirmed the current annual license renewal fee is approximately $515. Jessica Paige reiterated her support for short-term rentals as an income opportunity, while council members acknowledged differing views within the community.

MOTION: A motion was made by Justin Green, seconded by Johnnie Parks

11. Ordinances

- A. 26-419 Consideration, discussion, and possible adoption of Ordinance No. 3907 amending Chapter 21, Streets and Sidewalks, Section 21-12, Allowing construction materials to spill onto public ways, replacing the entire section to address concrete residue/wash water containment, cleanup, and enforcement; severability; declaring an emergency

Trevor Dennis, City Attorney, presented Item 26-419, explaining that the proposed ordinance would prohibit the discharge or tracking of concrete slurry, wash water, and other construction materials into city streets or stormwater systems. He noted this has become a growing issue with increased construction activity, and the ordinance would give the city enforcement tools to hold violators accountable and protect infrastructure and water systems.

MOTION: A motion was made by Lisa Ford, seconded by David Pickel
