IF (Inside FERC): An independent industry publication that reports natural gas market prices, including monthly First-of-Month (FOM) index prices at various trading locations throughout North America.

FERC (Federal Energy Regulatory Commission): The federal agency responsible for regulating the interstate transmission of natural gas, electricity, and oil. While 'Inside FERC' incorporates the term 'FERC' in its name, it is an independent industry publication and is not published by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

FOM (First-of-Month): The monthly index price established at the beginning of each calendar month based on market transactions for natural gas deliveries during that month.

OGT (ONEOK Gas Transportation): The Oklahoma trading location (market point) published in the Inside FERC First-of-Month Index. The OGT Index represents the regional physical natural gas market serving Oklahoma and is commonly used as the pricing basis for customers receiving service through the Oklahoma Natural Gas (ONG) system.
